Salute to Industry breakfast honors five

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A crowd of approximately 140 persons joined the members of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission in recognizing the contributions of business and industry in Hancock County Friday at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Individually honored at the third annual Salute to Industry breakfast were Gulf Coast Fabrication Inc., Industry of the Year; Hot Sticks Manufacturing Co., Bay St. Louis Business of the Year; Hubbard's Waveland Hardware and Lynch's Waveland Drug Store, Waveland Businesses of the Year; and John C. Stennis Space Center, Award of Excellence.

Dan Mortimer, president of Gulf Coast Fabrication, used the occasion to announce the signing of new contracts totaling $15 million, which will result in 120 new jobs at the Port Bienville and Johnson Bayou, Pass Christian, locations of the shipyards.

Mortimer emphasized his commitment to the local economy by stating that his company buys materials locally and employs Hancock and Harrison county residents.

The company was established in 1981 and has developed more than 70 competitively priced vessels on schedule. The Pass Christian shipyard currently employs 60 people, while Port Bienville has 70 employees.

Hubbard's Waveland Hardware was established in 1953 by the late R. G. (Manny) Hubbard. It is a family business owned and operated by Mrs. Dorothy Hubbard and sons Richard Hubbard and David Hubbard.

Pharmacist Louise Lynch has operated Lynch's Waveland Drug Store on Coleman Avenue since 1947, when she opened the business with her husband, Harry.

Hot Sticks Manufacturing, located in Bay St. Louis, is the world's first and largest manufacturer of colored drum sticks. The business was established in 1980 by Kevin Pokallus and Chris Torgerson.

Stennis Space Center is one of eight NASA field centers which reports to the space agency's headquarters in Washington, D.C. The main mission of the center is to support the development testing of the Space Shuttle main engine and of large propulsion systems.

The Science and Technology Laboratory conducts scientific and engineering research in land and oceanographic remote sensing, sensor and data systems, life and environmental sciences. The technologies are applied to Stennis propulsion testing and the private sector.

Port and Harbor sponsored the breakfast in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Suspected arson destroys church

County gets extension on old landfill closure

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has received an extension on the closing of the Catahoula landfill.

The Catahoula landfill was officially closed as of Jan. 1, meaning that no more garbage would be accepted. The county went instead to a temporary system using dumpsters, which will continue during permitting procedures for a new landfill at Standard.

Griffin

1973, when Circuit Court Judge Harry Walker was elected to the State Supreme Court.

Griffin was re-elected as Circuit Court Judge three times without opposition.

Griffin served 10 years as an assistant state attorney general before becoming a law partner to Sam Favre in 1965, when he moved to Bay St. Louis.

He joined Favre when his partner U.S. District Court Judge Dan M. Russell received his appointment to the bench.

Justice Griffin was very active in the community and in the First Baptist Church. Included among his activities were service as president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for two years and president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club.

The native North Mississippian's widow, Ruth Lollar Griffin resides in Bay St. Louis.

Their son, John Griffin and daughter, Martha Thompson reside in Jackson.

The ceremonies Monday will also include a memorial to the deceased members of the Hancock County Bar.

Deceased members in addition to Justice J. Ruble Griffin are: W.W. Stockstill, A.B. Russell, Walter J. Gex Sr., Emile J. Gex Sr., Carl Marshall, Walter J. Gex Jr., Judge Dan M. Russell Sr., Robert L. Genin Sr., Evelyn Conner Orte, Lucien M. Gex Sr., Edward I. Jones, and Joseph H. Benvenutti.

Those in addition to Haas who are scheduled to participate in the ceremonies Monday include, Circuit Court Judge Jerry O. Terry, Dr. Nathan Barber, pastor, First Baptist Church; Henry J. Cook III, vice-president, Hancock County Bar Association; C. Stephen Benvenutti, president, Hancock County Bar Association; and U.S. District Court Judge Dan M. Russell, Sr.

Others will include the J. Ruble Griffin family, Honorable Harry G. Walker, retired Chief Justice of the Mississippi Supreme Court; U.S. District Court Judge Walter J. Gex III, and Pamela Metzler, Hancock County Circuit Court clerk.

However, the landfill is not closed as far as the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is concerned. The agency has specific requirements regarding the covering of the landfill and reconstruction of the land over the areas now containing decaying household garbage.

On Friday, Board Attorney Gerald Gex said the extension will allow the county until July 31 to meet the requirements.

Board President Ronald Cuevas added that the original deadline was April 15, but the county applied for extension in advance, realizing the work could not be completed in time.

He said the work should be finished by the new deadline, barring unforeseen circumstances.

The penalty for noncompliance by the deadline is a $6,000 per day fine.

Engineer Lloyd Compton is currently proceeding with the permit application for the new landfill, which will be adjacent to an existing site used for the dumping of dry trash and other debris for which requirements are not as stringent as household garbage.

The Standard site was selected due to the presence of certain types of clay used to form a seal around the decaying garbage to keep leachates from contaminating groundwater supplies.

a bowl of banana pudding, six gallons of punch, a box of Kleenex, two garbage cans and a brand-new typewriter we'd just bought," said Vivian Echols, church treasurer.

Fire fighters were able to save most of another trailer, to the rear of the church, that served as offices and Sunday school classrooms.

The church lost two pianos, a small electric organ, a communion service and offering plates they had purchased "with money from aluminum cans we saved."

"This hurts. I think it's an awful thing to do. I know it's not a nice thing to say but, whoever it was, I hope God makes it as hot for them as this church was," said Ollie "Granny" Seay.

The 96-member church owns property on Hancock Drive in BaySide where they had hoped to eventually build a church. "We hadn't planned to build there for three or four years but, maybe now would be a good time to start," said Paul Layton, mission committee member.

The church members were uncertain Friday about where they would hold services until a new church can be built.

Five fire engines responded to the fire, from BaySide, Clermont Harbor and East Hancock Fire Departments, Marsh said.

DEAR MEMBERS OF DISTRICT FOUR:
Carolyn, Jackie, David and I would like to extend our personal thanks and appreciation for the warm courteous reception I have received from each of you during my door to door campaign. It has been an experience I will always remember. As the campaign grows even closer to the end, and election day is just around the corner, I ask you once again to please consider me when you go to vote. But regardless of whether your preference is for me or one of my opponents, I urge you all to please vote. Finally, for those of you I did not have the pleasure of visiting at your home or at a public outing, please accept my solicitation of your vote through this media as a personal one.

HELP PLAN FOR A BRIGHT FUTURE

RE-ELECT JAMES J. "JIMMY" RUTHERFORD COUNCILMAN-AT-LARGE

My wife Peggy, my sons Tommy and Michael, and I would like to thank the voters of Bay St. Louis for their interest and courtesy shown to us during my campaign. We would also like to thank you again for electing me Councilman-At-Large in the January Special Election. We now ask you to return to the polls Tuesday, May 2 and help us plan for the future of our community by re-electing me Councilman-At-Large.

Plan for the long range future to bring quality services for the lowest tax dollar cost.

Let us all work to take care of our senior citizens because in the future we will need their wisdom and knowledge to help us achieve our goals.

Advance education to its fullest potential for both our young and old.

No utility cost increases but quality services at lowest prices possible.

Not promises, but hard work and dedication to see the city's future needs met.

Institute programs where all of our community take part in fighting our drug problems.

Neighborhoods that blend in harmony with new environmentally safe businesses that will bring jobs to our area.

Gain the much needed cooperation between the cities and the county to achieve a better standard of living for us in the future.

I'm now going to ask the voters of our community not to let me walk in front of you. I feel you do not need to be led. Do not walk in front of me. I do not need to be led. Come walk next to my family and me and be our friends, so together we can build a brighter future.

EDITORIAL

All voters should vote in Bay Tuesday

The citizens of Bay St. Louis will go to the polls on Tuesday to select a mayor and five Democratic nominees for councilman.

The five councilmen elected will represent Bay St. Louis for the next four years, as there are no Republican candidates.

The Democratic nominee for mayor will face the Republican nominee, who has no opposition, in the June general election.

Since an entire administration could be elected next Tuesday, this is a very important election.

All qualified Democratic electors are urged to vote Tuesday.

Let your vote count, as it is your duty to vote for the candidates of your choice.

Remember, the polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

May 1 Loyalty Day celebrates freedom

Submitted by VFW Auxiliary 4808

The first of May is Loyalty Day and, as such, it is a day filled with activities designed to involve the community in an overt display of loyalty to flag and country.

Every loyal citizen should eagerly participate in the festivities in an effort to make this Loyalty Day the best observance ever held.

Loyalty Day has become a tradition with the Veterans of Foreign Wars. With the passage of Public Law 85-529 on July 18, 1958, the VFW won a long, hard battle to have Loyalty Day approved by Congress. However, this day does not belong to the VFW alone, it belongs to all Americans.

Most Americans have heard the quote, "Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country." This is a sound principle to live by in a country such as ours, where the government is elected by the people and where the public is expected to participate in the governing process.

In these times of global political turbulence, Americans should pause and ask themselves, "What have we done and what are we doing now to demonstrate to the world just how we feel about our country?"

After all, ours is a country that has held high the beacon of liberty and asked nothing of the other nations except that they send to her, in the words of Emma Lazarus emblazoned on the Statue of Liberty, their "huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

Ours is a country that has taken the abstract ideal of "Freedom and Justice for All" and made it into a way of life.

We must pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is always encouraged and respected. For, without loyalty, the United States—the world's best hope for a future blessed with freedom—cannot long survive. And, if we fail, the flame of freedom will diminish and fade forever.

So, join in and become a part of the Loyalty Day Celebrations. Let the world know that Americans are behind their country and that America, because of this, is still a strong vibrant nation.

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Community meetings, which were popular in years gone by, appear to be on an increase in our area.

It is good when neighbors get together and discuss community problems and needs.

The Lakeshore, Ansley and Clermont Harbor Association is one of the newer organized neighborhood groups.

On Wednesday night, Edward Murtagh, Hancock County assessor-tax collector, was the guest speaker.

Murtagh said there were more than 30 concerned residents in attendance and he gave them a talk on taxes, explaining how they are collected, where they go, and how rates are formulated.

One of the concerns of the group was the new numbering system which will go into effect in October.

Murtagh said every house in Hancock County will now have a number and will be tied into a system which will be of great help during emergencies.

We are glad to hear about the formation of the Lakeshore, Ansley and Clermont Harbor Association, and we wish them well in their membership drive.

On May 1, as many of you know, Law Day is celebrated throughout our nation.

A dedication of a portrait of Justice J. Ruble Griffin and a memorial to the deceased members of the Hancock County Bar will take place at the county courthouse at 11 a.m. Monday.

Justice Griffin, a resident of Bay St. Louis, died in Jackson in December of cancer.

He was one of the best-liked people I have ever personally known and a friend to even those he sent to prison as a Circuit Court judge prior to being elected as a Mississippi Supreme Court justice.

Nicholas M. Haas is the memorial committee chairman and he, along with many of Judge Griffin's friends and family (most of the folks around here still refer to him as judge), and several others have been very busy making plans for the big dedication Monday.

I hope to see you at the dedication ceremonies.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

The recent death of former state Sen. George Yarbrough of Red Banks, brings to mind how Yarbrough 25 years ago was the central figure in a classic case of trampling on the separation of powers provision in the state constitution.

Yarbrough had risen from a country bumpkin lawmaker in the 1950s to become a legislative power in the administrations of both Ross Barnett and Paul Johnson Jr. during the 1960s.

Johnson, who was then under contempt charges for his role in attempting to block the enrollment of James Meredith at Ole Miss, announced his long-awaited appointments to the State College Board in May, 1964.

On the list of college board appointees was the name of George Yarbrough, state senator and at the time, president pro tempore of the Senate, and unofficial floor leader for the Johnson administration.

Surely ole George was resigning his Senate seat and with it his job as president pro tem. But it was quickly discovered that Yarbrough had no intention of resigning from the Legislature, nor did the governor request that he resign.

There were already cases of legislators "double dipping" by serving on executive branch agencies such as the State Budget Commission, and the State Building Commission, but lawmakers had justified those on grounds that they performed services for the Legislature.

But this was the first time that any lawmaker had ever been proposed to serve in two constitutional offices at the same time each of which was in a different branch of government.

Even though some senators knew that it was constitutionally wrong, because of senatorial courtesy, Yarbrough's appointment to the College Board was waved through the confirmation process.

Added to the fact that Yarbrough's appointment was palpably political, in contradiction of the intent of the constitutional amendment creating the College Board, Yarbrough did not hold a college degree, nor any college credits.

Yarbrough proceeded to serve as a college board trustee for the next few months, while at the same time serving on the State Budget Commission and as chairman of the witch-hunting General Legislative Investigating Committee.

It was observed by some wags that Yarbrough wore so many hats that it would take a quick change artist to keep up with what hat he was wearing at the time.

Only one person in state government expressed concern about the number of hats that Yarbrough was wearing. He was then-Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson, a quiet, solid official who had become at odds with Ross Barnett over the latter's handling of the Meredith case.

Patterson let it be known that he would file for a writ of mandamus to vacate Yarbrough's legislative seat if Yarbrough did not resign either from the Legislature or the College Board.

The threat was taken seriously by Yarbrough, who in a few weeks resigned as a trustee on the College Board and remained in the Legislature.

Patterson had planned to eventually challenge the right of legislators to serve on boards and commissions in the executive branch, but he died before any test cases were launched. It was not until Bill Allain came along as attorney general in the early 1980s that lawmakers were finally removed from executive boards.

Yarbrough had been one of the most militant segregationists in the Legislature and was known for exerting pressure on the State Department of Education during the early 1960s to remove from its circulating library educational films which contained any black children.

But perhaps Yarbrough has become a footnote in the history of the Sept. 30, 1962 tragic riot which erupted on the Ole Miss

THALIDOMIDE SURVIVORS

In the early 1960s, doctors in Europe and Canada began prescribing a new wonder drug as a sedative for pregnant women. The drug was thalidomide.

Although the drug was never approved in the United States, it caused severe birth defects in 10,000 babies in other countries before being recalled.

In "Extraordinary People" at 9 p.m., Tuesday, May 2, on Mississippi ETV, "Frontline" profiles three Canadian men who, against all odds, overcame the physical limitations and emotional distress thalidomide brought to their lives.

Whatever you fancy for your main dish at dinnertime, there's something "on special" for you at area supermarkets—from turkey to chicken to pork to beef, and fresh produce of all sorts.

There are special pork sales in progress—sliced quarter loin or rib half pork loin, sliced loin halves or rib center or loin center chips—at National supermarkets through Tuesday, and sliced pork loin halves at Delchamps all through this week, ending on Saturday.

Remember when pork was a "no-no" in summertime? Well, the "new" leaner pork "the other white meat" as it's phrased in ads that we see these days has made a great difference so that we may indulge in pork all through the summer, especially just now, with the bargains offered!

Sometimes I like to cook thick pork chops with a fruit and bread and onion stuffing sandwiched between two chops, at other times I like to cook them in a wine and tomato sauce, at other times—oh, the possibilities and flavor combinations are all but endless! Here's an easy-on-the-cook recipe for:

SWEET CHILI CHOPS

8 to 10 lean pork chops
2 or more large onions, sliced
1 bottle of chili sauce (sweet, not hot sauce)

Dashes of pepper, cayenne, salt if you wish

Trim chops. Put a layer of pork chops in a baking dish, top with onion slices, pour some of the chili sauce over. (This bottled sauce is the old-fashioned sort that Great-grandma used to make, and that many cooks still make, with more of a "ketchupy" taste, not the hot pepper sauce. You may substitute ketchup or tomato sauce if you wish, but it may not thicken up as well. Try it and adjust liquid.)

Layer, chops again, until all chops are used, cover the dish and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or so, until the chops are tender to the touch of a fork. (Four to six servings). Serve with rice, over which you've grated orange peel, if you wish and it's not too much trouble!

My daughter-in-law, Sue McGuire, makes a delicious skillet variation of this dish. Here's:

SUE MCGUIRE'S SKILLET SPECIAL

6 to 8 lean pork chops of your choice

Onion, bell (green) pepper

slices as needed
Lemon slices as needed
Medium can V-8 juice
1/2 cup dry white wine
Pepper, salt as needed

Braise the chops in a heavy skillet, seasoning to taste with pepper and salt. Top with slices of onion, bell pepper and lemon—I like lots of all this! Pour the V-8 juice and white wine over, cover and simmer for 45 minutes or so, or until the chops are tender to the touch of a fork. (Four to six servings). Serve with rice and a green salad. The lemon slices give added flavor to the dish, and also serve as a colorful garnish. You might toss several parsley sprigs atop for a green touch, also.

"Savvy" shoppers are lining up at the meat counter at Winn-Dixie for the great buys in grade A turkeys (10 to 22 lbs. average). Don't be greedy—the limit is two to a shopper. But, a turkey, once you roast it, can cut your kitchen time to a happy minimum these warm days, with all the dishes you can make with the leftovers.

First, cook your turkey as you wish. It's your turkey and your dinner, so do as you please. As for the turkey itself, despite all the quick-easy modern methods of cooking, I still like to roast mine in an open roasting pan, after mopping it generously with melted butter and dusting it liberally with sage and pepper and just a speck of salt.

As it roasts, I baste it again and again whenever I pass by the stove, with more butter and splashes of Burgundy wine.

And, I always sprinkle sage liberally atop the noble bird. I'm not quite sure just what it does for the turkey, but it makes the whole house smell wonderful!

(And, whenever I cook a turkey, whatever the season, I have to make oyster dressing for my family—but that's another story and column!)

With that bonanza of a whole turkey, think of what you can do—sliced turkey, turkey a la king, turkey in Creole tomato sauce, turkey hash and on and on. Why not freeze some for future use?

Or, with that beautiful bird all ready, why not have an impromptu party? Or smoke or barbecue the turkey, as my sons like to do?

If you haven't savored the sweet Vidalia onions, Jitney Jungle is featuring them through Tuesday. Hurry over there, for the season is all too short for these delicacies from Vidalia, Ga. They add a special flavor to salads and other dishes, and team up well with the naval oranges also on special at Jitney through Tuesday. I like them sliced, over a bed of mixed greens, along with orange sections and slices of avocado, with French dressing enriched with chopped parsley and pecan or walnut pieces. Enjoy—and save!

Much preparation is involved in elections

With the Bay St. Louis municipal election coming up Tuesday, preparations for the event are winding down. However, a lot remains to be done.

Many technical things have to be handled before an election can take place but after the candidates have been certified, according to Charles Gottschalk, a Bay St. Louis city election commissioner and current head of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee.

"An election is much more complicated than the average layman thinks," Gottschalk stated.

Pollworkers have to be selected by the city's democratic executive committee for the primary and must go through a training program before they are allowed to work during the election.

For a general election, the city election commission chooses pollworkers.

Gottschalk, a former member of the Hancock County Election Commission who has also assisted in Waveland elections, called the procedures for municipal elections "a miniature replica of county elections." He said Waveland's elections are the same mechanically as those of Bay St. Louis, but take place a year later as provided in Waveland's special charter.

City clerks are in charge of maintaining voter registration rolls, but periodically the city election commission must purge the rolls, removing names of voters who have died, moved and registered elsewhere, or been convicted of certain felonies.

For candidates who qualify under a specific party affiliation, the qualifying fee is $10 and their candidacy must be certified by the party executive committee. The committee sends the matter on to the election commission, which decides whether the candidate's name may be placed on the general election ballot.

Independent candidates do not pay a fee, but must provide a petition signed by 50 qualified voters in the area in which the candidate will run. The city clerk verifies registration of the signers and then gives the petition to the commission for certification.

On election day, the polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. to allow voters within 50 miles of their voting precinct ample time to get to the polls, Gottschalk said.

If a voter is 50 miles from his precinct for work reasons, is hospitalized or will be on election day, has a member of his family hospitalized or is 65 or older, he may vote absentee. Absentee ballots can be obtained prior to the election. City clerks and election officials can provide information on how this is done.

campus surrounding the arrival of James Meredith on the campus.

Yarbrough was Barnett's top lieutenant whom the governor sent to the campus after federal marshals arrived there as escorts for Meredith.

Acting under a proclamation issued to him by Barnett, Yarbrough took command of the state highway patrolmen on the campus from Col. T. B. Birdsong.

Shortly before the riot began, the bulk of the highway patrolmen was pulled off the campus.

Anyone who has registered 30 days prior to the election may participate. Hancock County has cross-registration, meaning that anyone who registers in the county is automatically registered in the city in which they live.

In addition, cities send their registrations on to the county.

However, a voter may not go elsewhere after the 30-day deadline to register and still participate in the election, Gottschalk said.

Voters may claim a particular party affiliation, but in actuality do not register as a Democrat, Republican or independent. In other words, a voter belonging to the Republican party may vote as a Democrat in a Democratic primary.

In addition, you may still vote in a general election or run-off if you missed the primary.

Gottschalk said no one can be denied the right to vote, and therefore affidavit ballots are available. If a person comes to the wrong precinct or his name is not on the pollbook, he may vote by affidavit, stating that he is registered and believes he is supposed to vote at that particular box.

Other votes are counted election night after the polls close, using machines programmed for each precinct.

"It's not too difficult if the ballot was laid out properly, so you have to take a lot of care when you prepare the ballot for printing," Gottschalk said. "If it wasn't done right, the machine won't count it."

At the election, the ballots are placed in a voting machine and people vote by punching a card next to the number of their chosen candidate. Tuesday's ballot has three pages, one for mayor and councilman at large, one for councilman from the correct district for each precinct and one for city election commission.

The vote totals announced on election night are unofficial. Affidavit ballots are added later. Although some may actually be in the wrong precinct and the vote for councilman is not counted because the voter lives in a different district, the votes for mayor, councilman at large and election commission do count.

Seven Sacred Heart Brothers honored as Jubilarians

The New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart recently honored seven Brothers for their long years of devoted service as Brothers of the Sacred Heart on the occasion of their 60th, 50th and 25th

BROTHER LOUIS COUVILLON

A year later he returned South for his college studies at Spring Hill, Ala. He took final vows in 1970 at Bay St. Louis. Brother holds a BS and an MA degree and has taught in Mississippi and in Louisiana.

He has been prenovitiate director, and in addition to teaching, has served as campus minister at Brother Martin High School in New Orleans. Currently he is the Director of Novices in New Orleans for candidates from the three American provinces.

Born in San Pedro, Calif., Brother Henry Gaither began his prenovitiate studies in 1963 at Spring Hill, after attending Cor Jesu High School in New Orleans, La. For his novitiate as a missionary in Africa from 1952 to 1959 and from 1962 to 1970. He has also been stationed in New York, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Besides teaching, he has served as religious superior, postulate master, regional director in Africa, spiritual director for the New Orleans Province and as chaplain since his ordination in 1972.

McCall, La. is the birthplace of Brother Gaspar Rodriguez. In 1937 he joined the Brothers at Metuchen for his prenovitiate training. Following his novitiate, he pursued his college studies at Metuchen before beginning his apostolate.

At Bay St. Louis in 1945, he pronounced his final vows. Brother Gaspar spent his first 10 years in assignments other than teaching, mostly prefecting in New York, Alabama and Oklahoma.

He has taught in Mississippi, New Jersey, Louisiana and he went to Belvidere, returning to Spring Hill for his college studies. In 1970 Brother made final vows at Bay St. Louis.

He has a BS and a master's degree. He has taught in Louisiana and in Mississippi, and after his assignment as vocation director, a post he held from 1970-1980, was stationed at Brother Martin High School, where he is currently teaching Spanish.

Brother Anton Sokira, born in Zell Am See, Austria, entered Daphne in 1960 to study for the religious life after attending St. Aloysius High School in New Orleans.

After his novitiate year spent at Belvidere, he worked towernally and high school principal, as religious superior and provincial councillor, as scholastic director and guidance counselor, and as supervisor of teachers.

He holds a BS degree and a master's in education. Currently, he is guidance counselor at E. D. White High School in Thibodaux, La.

Brother Louis Couvillon, a Baton Rouge native, began his studies for the brotherhood at Daphne, Ala. in 1961. His was the first class of novices to make novitiate at Belvidere, N.Y. (1963).

Decell seeking Ward One council position

Louis Decell has announced his candidacy for Bay St. Louis' District One city council seat.

A native of McComb and a resident of Bay St. Louis for 27 years, Decell, 54, has been the owner and operator of Dan B. Murphy's Bar for the past eight years. He is retired from Nabisco Brand's Sanborne Coffee Division as a warehouse traffic superintendent.

He has eight step-children by his wife, Helen.

Decell is a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis and the Bay St. Louis Business Association.

A graduate of de Lasalle High School in New Orleans, he attended Tulane University and Delgado Community College where he took courses in general business.

"I will try to have a positive input for small business owners. As an owner and operator of a small business, I think I can work through the City Council to help improve conditions for other small businesses in the community."

"Utility rates in Bay St. Louis have become ridiculous—I don't see how people living on limited incomes can afford to pay them. I hope to do something about that," Decell said.

Reflections On Life

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Mothers In Twilight

I am sure that I speak for virtually every other human being who has or has had a mother waning sweetly in her declining years. Beyond the inconveniences of encroaching old age, the twilight is so charming, so beautiful that it makes one reminisce continually about the many sparkling years of full sunlight.

My mother was in the early summer of her years by the time my memory was able to retain the realization of how she looked, how she spoke, how she walked and how she acted and reacted to people and circumstances booth favorable and adverse.

Earliest of all is the recollection of the fateful afternoon when her father was rocking my younger sister in the living room. Standing intently in front of them, I was alarmed to see his head slip to one side and his mouth begin to froth. Frantically, I ran to the kitchen as fast as I could.

"Mother, come see! Papite's sleeping!" I yelled as I pulled on her apron.

With characteristic speed, mother shot into the living room, took one look and knew instinctively that Papite was in dire need of medical attention. After a couple of anxious attempts to flag a pedestrian to bring help, she succeeded in getting someone to run down to the corner and get Uncle Joe from his barber shop.

Strangely, the rest of the incident disappeared from my memory shortly after the arrival of Uncle Joe. I was but three years old then, but the recollection of my mother's tender concern for her father burned itself deep into my innermost memory.

From event to event, from person to person, from circumstance to circumstance, that concern, that compassion, that sensitivity never wavered or decreased. It almost seemed that anyone with a bobby, disappointment or heartbreak became part of her.

In the bright years of the summer of her life, I can remember only a lovable creature saturated with sensitivity, empathy, sympathy, interest, compassion, generosity and selflessness.

Throughout those prime years, when many people pursue frivolities, she was intent on collaborating with Louis, her husband, to support, discipline and give a Godly education to their children.

Aging, but hardly slowed in the fall of her years, mother did nothing to alter my earliest memories of her. All five children had flown the coop by then, usually not returning except on holidays, special occasions and family reunions.

Now just about 88 years old, under attack by Alzheimer's disease, mostly immobile because of a slowly recovering fracture just below the hip, and hard put to pursue even a simple conversation, mother still shines as mother in the winter of her life.

While it is painful to observe her and to realize that this is hardly more than a shell of what she used to be, still it is rewarding to visit her, to hold mini-conversations, and to hear her express sensitivity and little attentions, even now.

Mother in twilight are still more brilliant than most other human phenomena, with the understandable exception of fathers in twilight. Their very waning exceeds by far the greatest waxing of all growth in nature, of all events, and of most people.

Thank you, Lord, for mother in her declining years. Thank you for the ever-warm sensitivity and caring which light up the winter of her life. Thank you for making me a part of her, and a part of the wonderful life which she has shared with the world. In her, I see, respect and love all mothers everywhere.

Our Big Solution To Blocked Arteries Is Smaller Than You Think.

It's as small as a tiny beam of light. Yet its results are as big as life. It's the powerful laser used to perform angioplasty at the NorthShore Vascular Laser Center.

For patients with blocked leg arteries, laser angioplasty is an alternative to surgery. It's high technology that's as simple as inserting the tiny laser probe into the blocked vessel. Advancing it to the blockage. And vaporizing it. With the blockage cleared, a balloon can be inserted and inflated, and normal blood circulation is restored.

What are the benefits for patients? A shorter hospital stay, reduced risk, speedier recovery and less expense. The procedure is quick. Precise. And on the north shore, it's available at NorthShore Regional Medical Center.

For more information or a second opinion about this revolutionary procedure, see your physician or give us call at 641-6363. And ask us about laser angioplasty. It's just one of our big solutions to your healthcare needs.

Junior Auxiliary calls it quits

Members to reorganize as local service organization

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary has ceased to exist, effective today.

The small chapter has been unable to meet the minimum standards of membership required by the national organization, headquartered in Greenville, according to local president Judy Miller.

Junior Auxiliary is a service organization whose primary emphasis is the welfare of children. Their projects have included health screenings, child abuse education, social welfare assistance and yearly parties for handicapped elementary students.

The auxiliary lists eight active members, with a minimum of 15 being acceptable to represent the National Association of Junior Auxiliaries. This is the second year the chapter was unable to attract more than nine members.

"There was no choice but to be realistic—we could not continue to uphold our financial obligation to NAJA," said Miller. Local chapters are required to pay dues to the national organization for 15 members, regardless of their individual membership. Other fees and contributions are also required, imposing a financial strain on the struggling group.

Over the last two years, the chapter has actively sought to attract new members. Presentations were made to local Parent-Teacher Organizations and former JA members were contacted for recommendations. Of 50 invitations extended, 15 women indicated interest—and only one actually joined.

Miller attributes the problem to the increasing number of women in the workforce. "Of those who don't work, many are involved in the parent support groups in the private schools," she added.

Former president Margaret Adams relates being "emotionally drained" along with other members who felt they had "tried everything" to keep the Bay St. Louis chapter alive. After a silent ballot, the group approved returning the original charter to the national organization, dissolving the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary.

On a positive note, the members agreed to disburse the balance of the treasury among several organizations that help the needy.

Member Yvonne Raphael delivered a television and video-cassette recorder Thursday to the Gulf Coast Women's Center. The center had been unable to use several therapeutic tapes for battered women.

A substantial donation was made to the St. Vincent de Paul Society, to assist the needy with clothing, medical needs and utility bills.

and foster care worker, will select toys, books and art supplies recommended to relax young children as they are being questioned about suspected abuse.

A smaller donation will be made to the Hancock County Food Pantry.

"This has really boosted our spirits," said Miller. "Out of the bad comes some good...we are so happy to be able to help all of these people."

The current eight members of the auxiliary plan to reorganize as the "Hancock Service League" and are in the process of seeking tax-exempt status.

Miller plans to keep several of the Junior Auxiliary projects alive, including Hancock Abuse Prevention Program for Youth.

They will continue to co-sponsor a babysitting clinic with Hancock Medical Center, and continue to host "Santa's House," an annual party for handicapped children in elementary school.

Evaluating herbs at spring cleaning time

By Dr. Milo Burnham

Horticulturist

Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Spring clean-up in my yard came a little late this year, and I hate to admit it but some of the beauty of early spring was marred by winter's trash that littered the yard.

The earliest of spring flowers fell prey to the weather while the lawn presented a picture of total abandonment with pine cones, twigs and limbs and a pretty good crop of chickweed.

Inspired by the blooming azaleas, I spent a few hours to make the place look like someone cared a little.

The bagged pine needles lasted all of 10 minutes in the drive before someone in a blue pick-up claimed them. I half-jokingly asked the guy where was he when I was raking, bagging and hauling them to the front of the house?

Cleaning up has its surprises, both happy and sad. While working in an herb bed, I was pleasantly surprised to find that one plant of pineapple sage had made it through the winter and was a mass of one-inch green sprouts.

There were several large plants in the bed last summer and fall and all but this one perished in the cold. When the sprouts get a few inches longer, I'll take cuttings and root them in sand.

This herb roots easily and makes a good background plant in a bed. Its nice fruity fragrance is useless, but its scarlet fall flowers attract butterflies and hummingbirds.

In another bed I discovered that a lemon thyme plant fell victim either to the winter or to that darn creeping oregano that smothers everything within reach. I think I'll get another lemon thyme (strong lemon fragrance) along with an anise hyssop (licorice scent) to replace the ones that caved in during the winter.

A robust plant of mint marigold (Tagetes lucida), also known as winter tarragon (it has strong licorice scent), made it through the winter as did the plants of wood betony.

Betony is an old medicinal herb that I like because of the plant's appearance both in and out of flower and because it tolerates my shady yard.

My garden sage plants are back for the fourth year which is pretty good. Although a perennial plant, it is sometimes best treated as an annual because of our climate.

All of the mints—peppermint, spearmint, chocolate and lavender—have plenty of tender new growth, but the lemon grass, a tender perennial that lasted until early February, is gone. The dead plants gave off a strong lemon scent as I pulled them.

While it is still early in north Mississippi to be setting out tender plants, it won't be long before I'll fill in empty spots with sweet basil, parsley and a host of other herbs offered at local garden centers and nurseries.

Herbs are truly fun plants to grow. Because they are such a varied group, there are bound to be some herbs that every gardener can grow and enjoy.

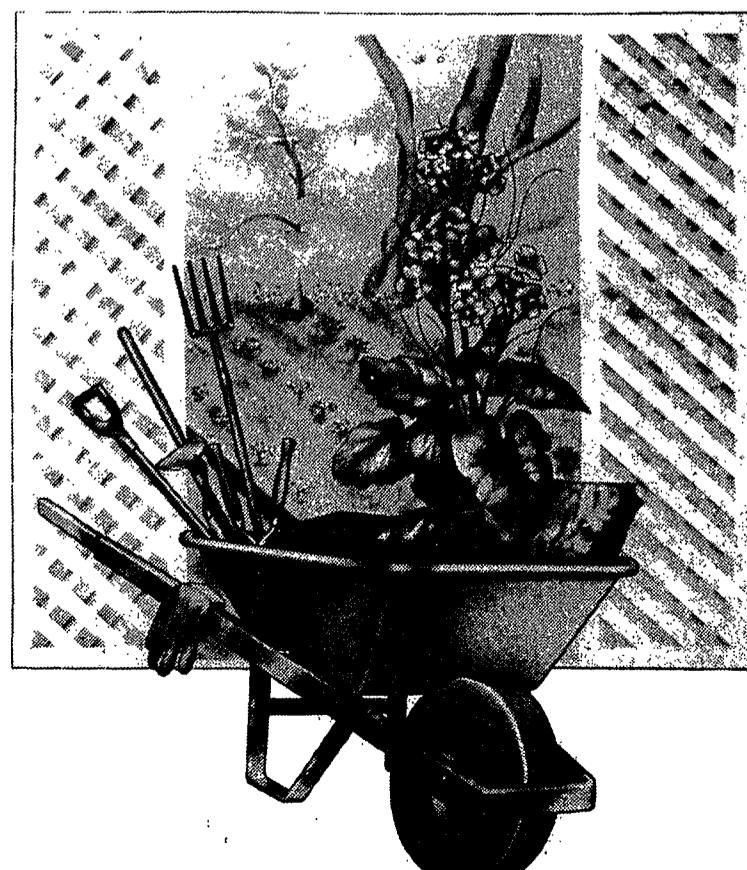

While most require sun and a well-drained soil, there are those that tolerate shade and seem to prefer most soils—the mints, for example. Gardeners who don't use herbs in cooking (a situation hard to imagine) should not deprive themselves of the joy of having herb plants just for their appearance and the aromas given off when pinched or bruised.

Mints are terribly evasive plants spreading through flower beds and becoming pesky weeds in short order. But, for me they're worth the trouble of controlling them when they creep out onto the lawn and fill the air with their minty fragrance as they receive a weekly whack with the mower blade. You'll get a far different reaction if you run the mower over a cilantro plant (coriander or Chinese parsley and also known as stink weed).

Plant lovers with limited space may find herbs provide some of the best choices of plants to grow. Some of the herbs that do well in pots are rosemary, chives (both garlic and onion), thyme, oregano, sweet basil, parsley and burnet.

You don't have to be a gourmet cook to qualify for growing herbs, and you don't have to provide a special place or garden for them. If you haven't grown herbs before, try some this year. If you're an experienced herb grower, share your knowledge, enthusiasm and your pia ...

Volunteers offer free legal advice

On Wednesday, May 3, from 6-7 p.m., a staff of volunteer attorneys will answer legal questions from the general public at 1-374-4160. This is no longer a toll-free number. All calls will be charged to the telephone from which the call is made.

This service is sponsored by the Harrison County Young Lawyers, the South Mississippi Planning and Development District's Area Agency on Aging, and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

The "First Wednesday Legal Line" offers the public an opportunity to call for legal information and referral services for a specific problem.

This service is especially intended for elderly, handicapped and low income individuals who may not have access to an attorney or who may not know whether the problem requires the assistance of one. However, everyone with a question about the law is encouraged to call.

MISSISSIPPI
PRESS
ASSOCIATION

THE PLAYS THE THING—Glenda Coss and Clem Acker rehearse for their roles as "Janet" and "Paul" in the Waveland Players production 6 Rms Riv Vu by Bob Randall. The two-act comedy, directed by Nan Patton Ehrbright, will run May 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. and May 7 at 2 p.m.

Cheerleader tryouts hosted

Pearl River Community College will hold cheerleader tryouts beginning with registration at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, May 6, in the Marvin R. White Coliseum.

Those trying out for cheerleader or mascot should expect to spend most of the day.

Cheerleading candidates should have a high school cheer prepared for an individual performance, and a dance and cheer routine will be taught in the morning session related to a group performance.

Candidates will be judged on rhythm and coordination, sharpness of precision, voice, showmanship-flair, enthusiasm, personal appearance and personal interview.

Everyone should dress comfortably in shorts, shirt and tennis shoes, and contestants may want to bring along an extra outfit.

Tryouts are closed to all spectators. For more information call Norma Hammill, cheerleader advisor, at 795-6801, ext. 215.

Beachfront Festival anticipates 15,000

Plans are underway for the tenth annual Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Beachfront Festival, scheduled for Sunday, June 4 on the beachfront of Bay St. Louis.

The Bay St. Louis Business Association, sponsor of the event, has issued an invitation to those wishing to participate with various booths.

The association is anticipating a crowd of about 15,000 people this year. Live entertainment and colorful canopies will add a festive note.

Booths are planned for antiques, flea market items, arts and crafts and food. A $35 non-refundable fee must accompany the booth entry form, available from any Bay St. Louis downtown business or from individuals in charge of different categories of booths, as follows:

Antiques: Ed Jurkowski, 467-8307 or 452-7803

Flea Market: Peggy Lizana, 452-4911 evenings

Arts and Crafts: Jerry Dixon, 467-3061

Food: Ruth Thompson, 467-8201

The deadline for entries is May 10.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Legal Secretaries

The Mississippi Association Legal Secretaries' annual meeting will be in Hattiesburg at the Holiday Inn on 49 North, May 19-21.

The theme of this year's meeting is "Rock Around the Hub." The script ticket will be $48 for the weekend.

Friday evening festivities include a sock hop, followed on Saturday with a banquet and installation of officers.

The meeting will conclude Sunday with the annual board of governors' meetings. Nancy Bontemps, CPLA; Debbie Butler and Gloria Benedict will serve as delegates for Harrison-Hancock Counties LSA.

For more information contact Charmayne Freeman, CPLA at 392-8469.

Timberidge Social Club

The Timberidge Social Club met April 17 at the home of Mae LaBiche.

New officers assumed their duties. The food was delicious and was enjoyed by all.

The club celebrated its first anniversary.

The next meeting will be held on the third Monday in May. A Kentucky Derby Party is being planned. Members will be called as to time and place.

LETTER FROM PALESTINE

What could one man with one small home video camera capture that an entire TV crew might miss? The real story in Palestine. "Letter from Palestine" airing at 10:30 p.m., Monday, May 1, on Mississippi ETV, is a half-hour, reporter-at-large account of life in the Israeli-occupied territories through the eyes of young Palestinian doctors treating people whose access to medical care has been disrupted by the strife in the region.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By Lee Taylor

Soybean planting time is just around the corner for Hancock County producers. Last year we had 3,500 acres of soybeans in the county worth $472,500. As you can see this is still an important crop to the county and our producers.

Farmers planting soybeans must battle a large array of weeds. There are currently over 30 herbicides that can be used for soybeans. Weather is sometimes a culprit in either being too dry or too wet to cause chemicals not to work.

Producers must be timely in their application to catch weeds in the smaller stages to obtain good control.

Which variety of soybean to plant is a major decision. Varieties vary in their resistance to disease and nematodes. Luckily we have the latest Experiment Station Test results on all major varieties.

Producers should choose variety with different maturity dates to take advantage of different weather patterns. Also the earlier maturity varieties may be harvested sooner to generate some cash flow.

Pastures and Forage

Pastures are doing better this year than in several years. Nearly everyone had plenty of rye grass. Pastures need to be fertilized now to provide needed nutrients for summer grasses.

Spray weeds as soon as they are four inches tall for maximum effectiveness.

Gardens

Gardens this year in general are off to a good start. Okra has been an exception. Several gardeners in Waveland and Bay St. Louis have complained about stand failure.

Okra is a plant that loves hot weather, and folks the weather has been variable to say the least. Usually it takes a second planting to get a stand of okra, so don't despair.

MILITARY MENTION

SPEC HALL

Spec. James M. Hall, son of James W. Hall of Bay St. Louis and Joyce M. Hall of Gulfport, has re-enlisted in the U.S. Army in West Germany for six years. Hall is a programmer analyst with the 381st Personnel Service Company.

His wife, Tammie, is the daughter of Jimmie and Karren Ladner of North Biloxi.

The specialist is a 1981 graduate of Harrison Central High School, Gulfport.

NPO DUBUSSON

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Timothy M. Dubuisson, son of Paul J. and Sue E. Dubuisson of Pass Christian, has reenlisted for three years while serving at Naval Mobile Construction Battalion, Gulfport.

A 1985 graduate of Harrison Central High School, Lyman, he joined the Navy in August 1985. His wife Patricia is the daughter of Judy K. Ladner, also of Pass Christian.

PLEASE SEE INSERT IN TODAY'S PAPER CONCERNING AD SHOWN BELOW!

I appeal to the many people who have said to me, "Conrad, you would be a fine Councilman-At-Large, and I certainly hope you are elected. You have my vote." Please express these sentiments to as many people as you can, and you will see the results of "People Power" on May 2, Election Day, and for the next four years.

Most Exxon stations are privately-owned small businesses.

The oil spill in Alaska was not their fault.

There's been talk lately about boycotting Exxon stations.

Obviously, that's not going to help clean up the Alaskan oil spill.

But it is going to hurt a lot of small businessmen in your community—and their families and employees.

They have nothing to do with the accident in Alaska, but they're taking the brunt of the anger. And they stand to lose income at the same time.

Truth is, it's not their fault at all. We at Exxon Corporation recognize our responsibility, and we are doing everything in our power to clean up the spill.

So please, don't blame your Exxon dealers. They've worked hard for your business for many years. They don't deserve to lose it over something which is not their fault.

PASS CHRISTIAN

Tops 213 Pass Christian met April 25. Top loser for the week was Jeanette Fricke. Jo Ann Cuevas earned a charm for staying at or below goal for six weeks in a row. Eileen Pavolini earned an award for losing on vacation. Marilyn Bailey was the best loser for the month of April.

Members will be attending the area meeting to be held May 9 at 7 p.m. in the Singing River Mall in Gautier.

The club invites anyone interested in weight control to visit. The meeting is every Tuesday at the Pass Christian Library on Hiern Avenue between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Weigh-ins are between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. For more information, call Gayle Arnold at 467-7198 or Jeannie Livings at 452-9706.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

WAVELAND

Tops No. 233 Waveland met April 25. Top loser of the week was Wilma Musser.

The club invites anyone interested in weight control to visit. Meetings are held each Tuesday at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue between 6:45 and 7:30 p.m. Weigh-ins are between 6 and 6:45 p.m.

For additional information, contact Joan at 467-0863 after 6 p.m.

Learning Ladies

The monthly meeting of Learning Ladies Home Extension Club was April 18 at Waveland Library.

Projects such as battered women, literacy and latchkey programs were discussed and planned.

Priority was given to Homemakers' Mini-Health Fair and Cultural Arts Fair, both to be held at the Bay St. Louis Library.

Mini-Health Fair is May 10, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., featuring screening cholesterol, blood pressure, weight and glaucoma.

Mrs. Margie Welsh of Riverview Club is handling all arrangements. Cultural Arts Fair on May 12, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. has been planned by cultural arts chairman, Mrs. Tommie Ziegeler.

The public is invited to both events. The cultural arts committee invites all to attend and display crafts.

The meeting was adjourned by president Mrs. Helen Cazaubon.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Inez Olivier and Mrs. Cazaubon.

Ways and means chairman, Mrs. Bonnie Titus, held a small indoor clothes sale in which all articles donated were sold and proceeds will be added to the club treasury.

Lioness Club

Mrs. Clara Arnold was installed as president of the Mississippi Southwestern Lioness Club April 24 at the Waveland Resort Inn.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Genevieve Cole, senior vice president; Mrs. Jeanne Galata, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Milazzo, chaplain; Mrs. Barbara Kingston, secretary; and Vincent Galata, lion tamer. Mrs. Arlean Johnson, outgoing president, presided.

Mrs. Johnson presented perfect attendance pens to Mrs. Barbara Kingston, Mrs. Clara Arnold, Mrs. Ruth Milazzo, Mrs. Jeanne Galata, Mrs. Genevieve Cole and Vincent Galata.

Mrs. Johnson was commended for her three-year term as president.

The installing officers were Mrs. Ruth Buck, District Lioness commander from St. Martin Club in North Biloxi, and Jerry Cleary, liaison for Lions Club, Long Beach.

Guests were Miss Patsy Arnold, Mrs. Sandra Shafer and Mrs. Glenda Hunicutt.

The state convention will be in Jackson May 5, 6 and 7 at the Ramada Inn.

The club spent 32 hours assisting the Mississippi Lions Eye Bank April 4, 5 and 6 at two schools.

For information call Mrs. Barbara Kingston, 467-0905 or Mrs. Genevieve Cole, 467-4567.

America Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The bi-annual "Miss Lena's Party" for the veterans at the Gulfport Veterans Hospital sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was on April 26 at the Legion home.

Mrs. Susan Piazza, co-chairman, and her volunteers, Mmes. Oris Planchard, Ursula Favre, Roslyn Weathers, Rose Ann Thompson, Bobbie Tomlinson, Janet Aime, Mattie North, Margaret Prevou, Lou Wilkerson, Mat Rhodes, Shirley Clemons, Pat Gillan, Billie Tudury, Joyce Binet, Judy Gavney, Lucille Boudreault, Carmella Boyd and Beatrice Ladner, brought various refreshments, such as sandwiches, assorted cakes and cookies, potato chips and Cheetos. There was also a wide variety of carbonated drinks which were supplied to the veterans and ladies.

Before the refreshments were served, they all played bingo and were delighted with the gifts they received for winning.

After refreshments, lucky numbers were drawn for prizes. These gifts were received with happy smiles and many "thank-yous."

On April 27 the auxiliary hosted the regular monthly birthday party for the residents at the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement Home for the residents who celebrated their birthdays during the month.

Mrs. Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano, Walter Chamberlain strummed the banjo, while Mmes. Roslyn Weathers led the singing and Oris Planchard went among the residents to encourage them to join in the activity.

As everyone sang "Happy Birthday" to the celebrants, the birthday gifts were handed to them which were received with big smiles. Refreshments followed.

Mrs. Beth Gruzinikas, director of activity, had the dining room beautifully decorated in spring colors and was pleased with the response of the residents who look forward to these parties each month.
